The Catholic Herald is the official newspaper of the Diocese of Madison. Its purpose is to inform and educate people of the Diocese through communications that proclaim Gospel values, report the news, and comment on issues as they pertain to the mission of the Catholic Church, which is to bring all in Jesus Christ to the Father.

A LONG TRADITION

Since 1948, the Madison edition of the Catholic Herald has served as the official newspaper of the Diocese of Madison.

The Diocese of Madison was established in 1946. Bishop William P. O’Connor decided that Madison, which had been previously served by the Catholic papers from LaCrosse and Milwaukee, needed a paper of its own and appointed Msgr. Andrew R. Breines as the first editor. From 1948 until his retirement in 1986, Monsignor Breines worked both as a parish priest and as editor, covering the many changes the Church experienced during that period. A highlight was the historic Second Vatican Council in the 1960s. Monsignor Breines attended and reported on all sessions of that council for the Madison-area readership.

KEEPING PEOPLE UPDATED

Currently, Bishop Donald J. Hying is the publisher of the Catholic Herald and Mary C. Uhler, who has been on the paper’s staff since 1973, is the editor. Uhler continues to ensure that the Catholic community remains “informed and updated on their faith and its impact on their lives and our society.” The Catholic Herald includes news and commentary on all levels from local to international and publishes pages devoted to spirituality, youth, families, the elderly, entertainment, and reader input.

The Catholic Herald is also featured on the Diocese of Madison’s Web site at www.madisondiocese.org. The paper works in conjunction with the diocesan Office of Communications to provide information on the activities of diocesan offices, agencies, and institutions.

RECOGNIZED FOR QUALITY

The Catholic Herald has a circulation of approximately 20,000, higher than most of the paid local daily and weekly newspapers in southcentral Wisconsin. The paper is printed in Madison and mailed directly to the homes of subscribers through the U.S. Postal Service.

In recent years, the Catholic Herald has won numerous awards from the Catholic Press Association, including first place for general excellence, editorial and news writing, photos, front page design, and advertising design. Its editorial page was named best in the country.
“IT DOESN’T GET ANY EASIER THAN THIS!”

Lisa Gorecki
Stewardship and Development Director
Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary Parish, Sun Prairie

“Advertising doesn’t get any easier than this! I can always count on our Advertising Account Executive at the Catholic Herald to get things done: from reminding me of an upcoming deadline, to notification of special advertising opportunities, to making sure that our ad is designed just the way we want it. Our parish is an active one, and the ease and convenience of advertising in the Catholic Herald has lightened my work load! Advertising in the Herald is also a good way to stay connected with others in our Catholic Family.”

“REACHING OUR TARGET DEMOGRAPHICS”

Jane McGowan
Director of Development and Communications
Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Madison

“The Catholic Herald is the best way to reach our target demographic of Catholics in the Diocese of Madison. We advertise on a regular basis in the weekly paper, in the special sections, and online. The Catholic Herald is a great tool to communicate our Catholic Charities services and special events to a large audience. We receive excellent support from the whole staff — the Editor, Associate Editor, Advertising Account Executive, Reporter, and Graphic Designers. They are truly a professional team!”

“EFFICIENT, CONVENIENT, COST-EFFECTIVE”

Stephen P. Rudolph
Certified Senior Advisor
Comfort Keepers of Madison

“The Catholic Herald has been of enormous value to us throughout Comfort Keepers existence. We have a mission to help elders and the physically infirm to stay in their homes and the Catholic Herald has given witness to that mission. This value laden paper and its readership already believes in the sanctity of life from conception to death; who better to advertise with, than a paper and readers that share our values and beliefs? The growth we have experienced is because of our involvement with organizations like the Catholic Herald who have faithfully promoted our mission.”

HIGHEST CIRCULATION

The Catholic Herald has a circulation of approximately 20,000 — higher than most of the paid local daily and weekly newspapers in Wisconsin. The paper is mailed weekly to homes in 11 counties. Of the subscribers, 89% have lived in the Madison Diocese for more than 10 years.

LOYAL READERS

You can count on the Catholic Herald to be read by our subscribers and their friends. An impressive 79% have read all of the last four issues and 88% have read three of the last four. The Catholic Herald is the primary source relied upon for news about Catholic issues as well as diocesan information. Readers report that of their alternate sources for that type of news, only 33% use secular newspapers, 29% use Catholic magazines, and 15% watch CNN.

The paper also has a high pass-along rate. Within subscriber households, 31% have two or more readers of the paper, and 34% of our subscribers share the paper with another person.
FINANCIALLY SECURE

Readers of the Catholic Herald tend to be older and more well-established, though 31% have children under age 16. Generally, they have smaller households and ample discretionary income to spend on products and services: 41% of subscribers (34% if priests are included) have incomes of $50,000 or more. The overwhelming majority, 84%, own their homes.

VARIED BACKGROUNDS

Though most readers share a common faith, their occupational backgrounds are varied:

- Retired 39%
- Professional/Office 36%
- Homemaker 10%
- Skilled Labor/Technical/Agriculture 9%
- Executive/Supervisory 6%

They are generous by nature, with 95% contributing to their parishes and 49% of them also giving to national charities.

SPENDING PLANS

Readers of the Catholic Herald enjoy travel, dining, and entertainment. They are also likely to be interested in making major purchases or using financial services.

- 33% dined out at least 6 times in past month
- 66% attended concerts, plays, or other theater events in past year
- 54% plan to travel within the continental US and 12% outside the US in the coming year
- 27% are interested in travel/vacation services
